

NOAH

© Myles Bing 2001

Noah and his ark
Had a dog that couldn't bark
A cat that couldn't swim
And it stank so bad within
But he did it to obey
When the World was washed away
Noah and his sons
Were the obedient ones

Oh Noah, oh Noah,
The rains going to wash the World away
Oh Noah, oh Noah,
The rains going to wash the World away

Now here was quite some plan
Never seen by any man
'Cause the architect was God
Though the people thought it odd
See, the boat was pretty large
Couldn't fit in the garage

Noah's dry dock
Had become the laughing stock!

What the neighbours must have thought
When they saw the stuff he'd brought
To load onto his ship
This was not the average trip
'Cause from every corner came
Every animal, every name
Walking two by two
Into Noah's floating zoo

It rained for forty days
And it rained for forty nights
Noah's ark rode on the waves
Without a scrap of land in sight
When at last the rain had stopped
And the water level dropped
Noah and his crew
Were tired of picking up the ...

When the sun dried out the land
As I'm sure you'll understand

Noah's family must have
Leaped so joyfully
And as they opened up the door
Something they'd never seen before
Now here's the big surprise
God put His rainbow in the skies

Oh Noah, oh Noah
I'm never going to flood the world again
Oh Noah, oh Noah
I'm never going to flood the world again